Tomorrow will be Thanksgiving Day, a general holiday, and will be practically observed as such in this city. All the government, state and county offices will be closed, as will be the banks, the post-office will observe holiday and after the morning hours many of the stores will close. Services will be held in several of the churches. Many people will spend the day hunting or visiting in the country and adjoining counties, while many Alexandrians living out of the city will eat their Thanksgiving Day dinner at their old homes.

The day will be donation day at the Alexandria Hospital. Contributions of money, groceries or clothing will be received by a committee of the board of managers from 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

CORONER'S INQUEST.

The coroner's jury summoned to investigate the circumstances in connection with the drowning of George E. Meade last Saturday night, held another session last night at Deane's and Son's undertaking establishment.

The evidence differed materially from the first accounts of the drowning. John B. Bisey, who, with Sylvester Quayle, was on the schooner Ella Hill which was lying in the dock near the scene of the accident, when questioned next day said he saw Meade on the wharf and was looking at him when he fell overboard. Bisey said he was in the act of entering the cabin at the time and that Quayle was in the cabin of the schooner. Bisey averred that he picked up an oar and ran to Meade's rescue, but he said the latter never rose after he fell into the dock.

The testimony of some of the witnesses before the jury Sunday night did not agree with that of others. Bisey had said Quayle was asleep in the cabin of the boat at the time, and that he alone had seen the drowning. Lieutenant Smith, however, stated that Quayle notified him shortly after midnight that Meade had fallen into the river between the wharf and the Ella Hill and that the body had probably been caught beneath the boat.

Quayle not being present Sunday night, and his evidence being regarded as material, the jury was adjourned until last night.

Quayle was brought before the jury last night. He testified that Meade walked out of the wharf as he was getting out of the boat. He said there was an oyster shell pile at the point where he fell. He further stated that Meade had been in the cabin with him alone while John Bisey, in command of the schooner, was on the wharf splitting wood. Witness said that he never saw Meade fall overboard, but that Bisey did. Bisey, he said, informed him of the drowning. Quayle further said that he and Meade, shortly before midnight, went into the cabin of the schooner Ella Hill, accompanied by two colored women. He said they remained there about ten minutes, when Meade departed. He told Meade to be careful. Both women were in the cabin when Meade fell. After being informed that Meade had fallen overboard, witness said he procured a pole and placed it in the water and attempted to locate him.

The evidence being of a conflicting nature, the jury was again adjourned to meet at 4:45 this evening when the two women will be placed on the stand.

CASE CONTINUED.

There was but one case before the Police Court this morning—that of J. W. Knowles and David Matthews, the latter colored, charged with disorderly conduct and fighting. The disturbance occurred last Saturday night at a house on Gibson street, near Royal. Knowles, who is captain of the schooner Bulahland, was roughly handled, his right eye having been blackened and one of his ribs broken. As was stated in the Gazette, on Monday Knowles put a woman and her two children, who had been living on the schooner, ashore on Saturday and they went to Matthews' house. On Saturday night the captain proceeded to the house and became involved in a difficulty with Matthews and some other colored men. The row attracted the attention of Officers Sampson and Talbot, who were on Fairfax street at the time, and they repaired to the scene. The officers took Knowles and Matthews in charge, but some drunks who are said to have been parties to the disturbance escaped. The woman in the case has been living with Knowles for eleven years, according to the latter's statement. Last Friday night she incurred his displeasure by going to Washington where she remained all night. The woman with her two children have returned to the schooner. Justice Caton continued the case until tomorrow morning in order to secure additional witnesses.

CATHOLIC CONFERENCE.

The mid-winter conference met today at St. Mary's rectory. The following priests were present: Rev. Father Julius, O. S. B., of Bristow; Rev. Father Collins, of Harpers Ferry; Rev. Father McVey, of Winchester; Rev. Father Crow, of Charlottesville; Rev. Father Perrig, of Fredericksburg; Rev. Father O'Hara, of Keiser, W. Va.; Rev. Father Walsh, of Norfolk; Rev. Father Patrick, O. S. B., of Warrenton. Rev. Father McKeefry, and Rev. Father Curran, of Staunton, and Rev. Father Kelly, of Alexandria. The conference was presided over by Rev. Father Cutler acting in the name of the right reverend bishop who was not present.

Three papers were read by the visiting priests.

The first paper on "Dogmatic Theology" read by Father Patrick discussed that part of the decree of the holy father on engagements and matrimony concerning the validity of matrimony.

Certain important moral questions were treated by Rev. Father McKeefry.

The third paper was read by Rev. Father Walsh. It treated of that part of the pope's decree on "Modernism" issued July 3, 1907, explained in reference to the sacred scriptures. Several questions concerning the lawfulness of Catholic marriages were discussed by the members of the conference. Rev. Father Cutler entertained the reverend visitors with a delightful dinner, sustaining the reputation of St. Mary's rectory for old Virginia hospitality.

STEAMERS AGROUND.

The steamer Norfolk, which ran aground in a fog early yesterday morning, a short distance below Fort Foote, on the Maryland side of the river, resisted all attempts to float her at high tide last night and early this morning. The steamer Newport News tugged at the stranded steamer for some time last night, but failed to move her, and the steamer Washington also made futile attempts to pull her into deep water this morning.

ON HER WAY HOME.

Chief Goods went to Washington today for the purpose of conducting Jennie Sink to this city, where she was placed in charge of John H. Haywood, chief of police of Lexington, N. C. The young woman, it will be remembered, ran away from her home last Saturday and was found in this city. She was taken in custody and later turned over to a delegation from the Salvation Army in Washington. This organization secured the young woman a place in a private family on the outskirts of Washington. The members of the family expressed considerable regret when Chief Goods appeared and conducted Miss Sink away. She will leave here at 4:30 this afternoon in charge of the Lexington chief of police for her home.

FOOTBALL.

Tomorrow the Old Dominion football team of this city will play a morning and afternoon game, each with a Washington team, on Colosseum field. This feat of playing two games in one day, is seldom attempted in this branch of athletics and a large crowd is expected at each contest to see if the boys can stand the pace. The morning game will start promptly at 10 o'clock, and the Old Dominion will have as their opponents a team representing the Geological Survey; and in the afternoon game starting at 8 o'clock, their opponents will be the strong team of the Brentwood Athletic Club. These games should be very closely contested, but judging from the past games the home team should win both.

WEDDING.

Mr. J. E. Cassidy, of Fairfax county, and Miss Susie Virginia Roberts, of Alexandria county, were married at 3 o'clock this evening at Trinity M. E. Church parsonage by Rev. W. W. Van Arsdale. The bride was attired in blue broadcloth and was attended by her sister, Miss Etta Roberts, and the groom had for his best man his brother, William Cassidy. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Cassidy left their bridal tour for an extended trip through Florida and the south, and will be at home to their many friends about December 10, at No. 431 North Columbus street.

THANKSGIVING MARKET.

There was a small supply of country produce in market this morning, enough however, for the demand. Turkeys un-drawn, sold at from 20 to 22 cents per pound; drawn brought 25 cents. Dressed chickens were quoted at from 40 to 60 cents each and rabbits 20 to 35 cents. One dressed "ponsum" was awaiting a purchaser. It was being held at 60 cents. Eggs were still quoted at 40 cents per dozen. At the green grocery stores turkeys sold today at from 18 to 22 cents a pound and will probably be cheaper tomorrow on account of the warm weather.

THE ALDERMEN'S CHAMBER.

The repairs and refitting of the chamber of the Board of Aldermen in the northern wing of the City Hall have been completed by the committee on public property. The Aldermen who met in the Auditor's office at the last meeting convened in their old quarters last night. Among the improvements is a handsome drop light which has been placed on the clerk's desk.
